Travel Info:

San Benedetto del Tronto is located on the Adriatic coastline and crossed by the national road SS16, by the highway A14 and by the railway Milan-Taranto, so it is easily reachable by car or by train from all parts of Italy.

- For those arriving by plane, the easiest way to get to San Benedetto del Tronto is to fly into Bologna's airport. Once at the Bologna's airport, participants can complete their journey by taking a train from Bologna to San Benedetto del Tronto.
- For those arriving by ferry with their cars from Ancona or from the north, the easiest way to get to San Benedetto is through the Highway A14, exit Grottammare.
- For those arriving from the south, you can get to San Benedetto through the Highway A14, exit Grottammare (please exit at Grottammare, to avoid the entire southern area of San Benedetto del Tronto, since the museum and the hotels are all in the centre-north area of the city).
- For those who land in Rome, the Flixbus bus is strongly recommended instead of the train. The bus journey is around 2h 55m and covers 217 km. Bus service departs from Rome Tiburtina Bus station.
